

Faxtastic helps human resources specialist

Requirement

Based in Stamford, Lincolnshire, Recrion is a specialist People and Career Management company

Their Career Management Coaching and Talent Management includes providing best practice Redundancy Advice, Advanced Recruitment and Selection techniques and the design and implementation of Employee Retention programmes.

By partnering closely with their clients they reduce costs, minimise risks and improve processes in these areas of HR best practice.

As a small and dynamic team, Recrion needed a tool that enabled them to save faxes electronically, as well as receive faxes on the move as the team are not always office based.

Solution

Recrion chose faxtastic - one of the UKs leading fax to email service providers.

Faxtastic provides a unique fax number that takes any received fax and converts it into an email attachment with no additional software required. Customers can choose from free 0872 numbers, to 0844 and UK geographic numbers.

As well as being able to receive faxes, the service enables the sending of faxes from your email account. All that's needed is an email account and some sending credits and users can send to any fax machine in the world.

Benefits include cost savings over running a traditional fax machine, along with associated telephone lines, and the ease of use and functionality that comes with sending and receiving faxes via email.

Results

The service is quick, problem free, and provides the ideal solution to Recrions' faxing needs.

The company also use the spam filtering service provided by faxtastic's parent company: The Very Good Email Company, which makes a huge difference to the volume of junk emails.

"We have been using fax to mail since its inception - getting rid of the fax machine that took up space and was so rarely used was a relief." She adds: "I have every confidence that the Good Email Company will keep us abreast of new developments in email technology and help us streamline our communications in the years to come."
